THE INDIAN WAR.

The vague rumors of war on our western frontier seem fast ripening into reality. The Indians are on the war path and we fear there are to be terrible scenes of savage ferocity again enacted on our continent. The accounts come from all parts of the Indian country and indicate a general movement among the tribes of Colorado, Montana, Dakota, Arizona and Idaho. It will doubtless be the last great struggle of the red men for the preservation of their hunting grounds and the freedom of their race. Pushed by the advancing tide of civilization which is now crowding them on every side, they seem resolved to strike for their liberties and their native land. The opening up of the different branches of the Pacific Railroad show the savages at a glance that the whole country is to be occupied and possessed by the white man who claims the sovereignty of the continent, and it is said they have declared their determination to kill every white man who trespasses on their hunting grounds.

A few individuals of the many whites who are now on the plains are taken off from time to time. The Indians can have little idea of the vast multitude that is pressing these advance guards to the west, or they would have no hope of arresting the torrent of emigration setting thitherward by such insignificant efforts as their raids really are. All they can do is but an almost imperceptible obstacle to the process of their own destruction. The delay can be but short and, and as the prospect of such an event is, their race will be shortly run. It is to be feared that their present acts of hostility will only hasten that end and result, as nearly as may be, in a war of extermination.

Crime Following Crime.

The tragedy at Albany has produced something of its natural result in one of two other similar outrages upon society; and the prize fight at Aquia Creek has been followed by an exhibition in Baltimore of the same spirit, only on a larger scale. This is the natural course of events. Such acts, unrestrained or unpunished, never fail to bring about an era, so to speak, of criminality tending to the disorganization of society. There is but one remedy or preventive of the prevalence of a recklessness of human life, and of a universal feeling of insecurity in the community. It is to be found in an inflexible administration of justice according to laws which are dictated and upheld by the convictions of all right-minded people.

A strange and painful epoch in the history of this country is now upon us,—the prevalence of crime to an alarming extent. There is something, apparently, of the nature of an epidemic occasionally recurring, when one form of crime is more common than others and when the application of desperate remedies is required. It is time for the law to have its effect in restraining the tendency to prize-fighting and assassination. We are going on in a bad way and the evils complained of ought to be checked.

The President's Visit.

Arrangements are completed for President Johnson's visit to Boston at the close of this week. When he first accepted the invitation to attend the Masonic celebration there, he expressed his purpose to make the trip by sea.—Offers of hospitality by various cities and of brilliant escort by Knights Templars have induced him to abandon that project, and New England is going to be (as we say honored!) with the presence of one who has mingled with all the bitterness his vocabulary can command some of New England's representative men and trampled with contempt upon New England's distinctive ideas.

With what propriety Andrew Johnson can be invited to the capital city of New England we are unable to discover. He is one of the few men who have occupied the Presidential chair of the nation in whom it is difficult to separate the man from the office so as to pay him the respect due to the position which he holds. He has used the office for the accomplishment of the vile purposes and the utterance of the low slang of a demagogue; and, although there has been some improvement in his language, he is even now employing the pen of his Attorney General to render null and void the legislation of the people's representatives and the labor of years for the restoration of quiet and for bringing back into the Union of the seceded States on equitable terms.

A people who would be glad to honor a man who, though an imbecile, should put forth his best efforts in behalf of the welfare of the country, will find it difficult to do honor to Andrew Johnson; and it is little less than an insult to ask them to do so. Nothing can be farther from their convictions or their feelings. Let those who hold or want offices at his hand bow down before him if they will; but let his reception by the people be so cool that the June day will be like December to him.

A man in Plainfield, Conn., who is living with his third wife, was surprised, the other day, at finding who had had erected handsome stones at the graves of his former wives, with money which he earned by working in the mill.

The Burratt trial was fairly opened, yesterday, Judge Fisher presiding. The case was opened by Assistant District Attorney Wilson. He claims to fully identify Burratt as one of the conspirators for the murder of Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Seward.

The clergyman who was accused, last week, of having eloped with a young lady from North Adams, Mass., is, now acknowledged to have been wholly free from any such offense.

A Richmond correspondent says Gen. Schofield gives a flattering report of the political situation in Virginia, the great object of the people being to meet the requirements of Congress and get back that financial confidence, business and enterprise which can only be recovered by complete restoration to the Union.

In a thunder shower at Lawrence, Mass., on Sunday afternoon, one of the towers of the West-lington mill was struck by lightning, clipping off the covering of the roof and setting fire to a weaving room, which was slightly damaged.

The battle of Bunker Hill was celebrated in Charlestown, Mass., yesterday, with great enthusiasm.

West Cambridge, Mass., yesterday, celebrated the change of its name to the meaningless one of Arlington, while having at hand the good Indian name of Manotomy which it originally bore.

THE SEVENTENTH OF JUNE.—Yesterday was the Anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill, on which the Boston Post moralizes as follows:

"Ninety-two years have elapsed since our young Republic was baptized in blood on Bunker Hill. We have since seen conflicts of a magnitude which quite overbore that slowly fought little battle, whose carnage renders the loss of patriotic blood on that occasion seemingly insignificant, but none whose results have been so glorious to the nation, or whose remembrance is so dear to the American heart. Bunker Hill is our Thermopylae; its heroes are Liberty's martyrs, and such they will ever be held. It is exceedingly appropriate that this day, the anniversary of that battle, should be made a legal holiday, and that ordinary business should be interrupted in honor to the occasion. Charlestown always celebrates the 17th in the heartiest manner; and indeed throughout New England the spirit which animated the Prescotts, Warrens, Putnams, Gridleys, Starkes, and others of the gallant participants in the fight, is fully shared and a heartfelt tribute paid to the memory of those who fought so bravely for liberty. The death of Warren, the heroism of Prescott, the desperate fighting of the Americans, who clubbed their muskets and beat back the British bayonets, and performed such prodigies of valor that they gained a reputation for prowess that later years and later contests have only confirmed; all are treasured as sacred history by every New Englander, and once a year at least are duly honored.

The National Intelligencer says: "It is understood in official circles that the Attorney General of the United States holds that State officers cannot be removed in virtue of the judgment of Military Commissions by Southern Military Commanders. We have already stated that his opinion went to the length of totally denying the power of these Commanders to remove such officers in any case.

In respect to appointments to all vacancies, however occasional, he also holds that the Reconstruction acts, so called, contemplate an election by the people. It is scarcely necessary to add that the President and Cabinet concur with the Attorney General in these views, and we have heretofore stated that the opinion as a whole was approved of by them. In connection with this topic we may also say that the report telegraphed hence that the President will not take any immediate action in reference to the removal of Governor Wells by Gen. Sheridan is at least premature, if not altogether unfounded."

One desired point in the petroleum-fuel question seems to have been fixed—that by a combination of atmospheric and decomposed steam (i. e. oxygen and hydrogen gases) with the vapors arising from the heated oil, a gas is formed which supplies so intense a heat as to rapidly increase the rapidity of steam generation in the boiler, and adds nearly fifty per cent of speed to vessels without material change in their present machinery. One pound of petroleum gives equal results with eight and seven-tenths pounds of coal; three times the work of twenty; and the deck, where of course the petroleum tanks must stand, is not needed for freight ordinarily, while the old coal-hold used up a large amount of valuable hold room. These facts, pretty well assured by the late Boston experiment, of which the Times published a special report on Saturday, added to cleanliness of fuel and absence of corrosive sulphurous gases to eat away gratings, make a handsome success thus far. One link, however, seems to be missing. None of the records of the Palos experiment have explained the original sources of the steam that is "taken from the boiler" and passed into the petroleum retort that generates the vapors that make the heat but raises the steam in the boiler. How this is to be explained on any other plan than that of "the house Jack built" is not yet clear. We ask for information.—N. Y. Times.

The New Orleans Times says that ex-Governor Wells takes his expulsion from office very philosophically. An acquaintance inquired how his contest with the military powers had terminated. Mr. Wells smiled humorously and replied: "Badly, sir, badly. I held the four corners, but Flanders had an Arkansas hand—four jacks and a bowie knife—and I had to cave."

The sculptor, Thompson, has modeled a statue of Gen. Sedgwick, which, at the order of officers and men of the 6th Sash Corps, is to be reproduced in colossal form, and erected in a place of honor at West Point. Mr. Thompson has discarded the traditional heroic style of costume, and gives to the soldier in his blouse, and high-topped boots, and slouched hat—in the uniform in which he moved among his men, in which he worked, and fought and died.

PERUVIAN SYRUP. A PROTECTED SOLUTION OF THE PROTON DE OF IRON, supplies the Blood with its LIFE GIVING, giving strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

If the thousands who are suffering from DYSPEPSIA, PLEURISY, BRONCHITIS, &c., would but test the virtues of the PERUVIAN SYRUP, the cure would not only astonish themselves but would please all their friends; for instead of feeling cross, "all gone" and miserable, they would be cheerful, vigorous and active.

A DISTINGUISHED JURIST WRITES TO A FRIEND AS FOLLOWS: I have tried the PERUVIAN SYRUP, and the result fully sustains your prediction. It has made a new man of me, infused into my system new vigor and energy; I am no longer feeble and debilitated, as when you last saw me, but strong, healthy, and with larger capacity for labor, mental and physical, than at any time during the last five years.

Thousands have been charged by the use of this remedy from weak, sickly, failing creatures to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in glass.

CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF RYE.

THE Proprietors of this popular article, find it necessary to remove a wrong impression from the public mind regarding the real merits which they claim for it,
WOULD ONCE AGAIN ANNOUNCE THAT

IT IS NOT
a mere dream-drinking beverage, but a TRUE, GENU-INE, and SCIENTIFICALLY PREPARED

MEDICINE.

If it is not as many have been led to believe, nothing but good Rye Whiskey; it is a

MEDICINAL REMEDY,

specially designed for certain useful and beneficial purposes: which any intelligent and thinking person can readily see, by reading what we now have

TO SAY ABOUT IT,

without any long, half sounding words, such as some doctors use to mystify and bewilder a patient until he can't begin to tell what does not kill him. We SIMPLY AND PLAINLY SAY that "EXTRACT
OF RYE" is nothing but the Juices of the Grain.

combined with a certain oily, fatty, and vegetable matter, which, when taken into the system, stimulates it first to

NEW LIFE, and a restored appetite, and then goes to make BETTER and STRONGER

FLESH AND BLOOD.

One can instantly see how this preparation must soothe the throat when it is inflamed, and must carry its lubricating and fattening effects to the lungs; consequently

IT IS WHAT YOU WANT
when you have a bad cough, to cure it, or when you have

CONSUMPTION OF THE LUNGS, to heat and build them up again. So much for those

No one who wants an article to FEED THE SYSTEM ON, when it has become reduced by sickness or by being OVER-TAXED in ANY WAY, this medicine will DO THE WORK.

We have, among a great many letters we have received about it, a great many positive testimonials that it has been the means of making people

Gain Flesh and Grow Fat.
The reason for this is the
GRAND SECRET OF THE WHOLE MATTER.
It acts as a
STIMULATING FOOD
to the body, and helps Nature
THROW OFF DISEASE.
How often, of late years, have people been terribly decaying by resorting to common whiskey for this purpose, when, if they knew it, the only advantage to be gained from the use of whiskey must spring from the ill-effects of it. It contains of that which Extract of Rice is entirely composed of.

This, then, is the whole story. EXTRACT OF RICE will cause you to throw off disease by feeding the system with a

and will build up and restore the powers of mind and body, while you become fat and happy.

It is put up in a convenient style, each bottle being contained in a paper box. It is sold at a fractional price, but offered at a reasonable cost to the land and poor.
